25 TO THE HONORABLE COURT, ALL PARTIES, AND TO THEIR 26 ATTORNEYS OF RECORD:

27 PLEASE TAKE NOTICE that on June 5, 2017, at 1:30 p.m., or as soon 28 thereafter as Defendants may be heard, in Courtroom 6A of the above-entitled

1 Court, located at 350 West 1st Street, Los Angeles, California 90012-4565, 2 Defendant COUNTY OF LOS ANGELES will move the Court for an order 3 dismissing Plaintiff's complaint pursuant to Rule 12(b)(6) of the Federal Rules of 4 Civil Procedure. The motion will be made on grounds that the complaint fails to 5 allege facts sufficient to state a cause of action against the County of Los 6 Angeles.

7 This Motion is based upon this Notice, the accompanying Memorandum of 8 Points and Authorities, Request for Judicial Notice, exhibits and the pleadings on 9 file herein, and upon such further matters as may be presented at or before the 10 hearing of this Motion. This Motion is made following counsel for Defendants' 11 unsuccessful attempt to informally resolve these issues in good faith pursuant to 12 Local Rule 7-3 on March 24, 2017.

MEMORANDUM OF POINTS AND AUTHORITIES

I. INTRODUCTION.

3 Plaintiff alleges personnel of Defendant County of Los Angeles (“the 4 County”) entered a residence he was occupying on the evening of March 25, 5 2016. (Complaint at ¶¶ 26-48.) He claims the entry was illegal, despite the fact 6 that they were accompanied by Plaintiff’s ex-wife (Defendant Diane Cafferata 7 Hutnyan), who had lawful authority to enter the residence at the time. (Complaint 8 at ¶¶ 26, 38; Request for Judicial Notice, Exhibit A at p. 10, ¶ 4.2.) He further 9 attempts to attribute their actions to the County, despite the fact that they were 10 off-duty and working for a private security company at the time of the incident.
11 (Complaint at ¶¶ 31, 32.) Although he claims he was struck on the arm and body 12 during the incident, he does not allege who struck him or how the purported 13 striking occurred.

14 Plaintiff's complaint asserts four causes of action against the County: (1) 15 violation of Fourth and Fourteenth Amendment rights under 42 U.S.C. § 1983; 16 (2) municipal liability under 42 U.S.C. § 1983; (3) intentional infliction of 17 emotional distress; and (4) assault and battery. Each cause of action fails because 18 Plaintiff's complaint fails to allege facts sufficient to state a claim against the 19 County.

II. PLAINTIFF'S COMPLAINT FAILS TO ALLEGE FACTS

SUFFICIENT TO STATE A CAUSE OF ACTION AGAINST THE COUNTY OF LOS ANGELES.

23 Fed. R. Civ. P. Rule 12(b)(6) provides that an action will be dismissed for 24 failure to state a claim upon which relief may be granted. A court will grant 25 dismissal if “it appears beyond doubt that the plaintiff can prove no set of facts in 26 support of his claim which would entitle him to relief.” Conley v. Gibson, 355 27 U.S. 41, 45-46 (1957).

1       Under Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 8(a)(2), a complaint must contain a 2 “short and plain statement of the claim showing that the pleader is entitled to 3 relief.” Allegations that are conclusory and devoid of any factual basis do not 4 satisfy the pleading standard of Ashcroft v. Iqbal, 556 U.S. 662, 677-678 (2009).
 5 Proper pleading “demands more than an unadorned, the-defendant-unlawfully-6 harmed-me accusation.” Id. Under Iqbal, a complaint fails to satisfy the pleading 7 standard “if it tenders ‘naked assertion[s]’ devoid of ‘further factual 8 enhancement.’” Id. at 678 (quoting Bell Atlantic Corp. v. Twombly, 550 U.S.
 9 544, 557 (1955)). “To survive a motion to dismiss, a complaint must contain 10 sufficient factual matter, accepted as true, to ‘state a claim to relief that is 11 plausible on its face’ . . . [citations omitted] . . . A claim has facial plausibility 12 when the plaintiff pleads factual content that allows the court to draw the 13 reasonable inference that the defendant is liable for the misconduct alleged.” Id.
 14 (emphasis added). Pleading therefore requires “more than a sheer possibility that 15 a defendant has acted unlawfully.” Id.

16       The Supreme Court has set out a two-pronged approach for reviewing 17 possible failure to state a claim. Id. at 678-681; see also Moss v. U.S. Secret 18 Service, 572 F.3d 962, 969–70 (9th Cir. 2009). First, the reviewing court should 19 identify those statements in a complaint that are actually conclusions, even if 20 presented as factual allegations. Iqbal, supra, 556 U.S. at 680-681. Such 21 conclusory statements (unlike proper factual allegations) are not entitled to a 22 presumption of truth. Id. In this context it is the conclusory nature of the 23 statements (rather than any fanciful or nonsensical nature) “that disentitles them 24 to the presumption of truth.” Id. at 681. Second, the reviewing court presumes 25 the truth of any remaining well-pleaded factual allegations, and determines 26 whether these factual allegations and reasonable inferences from them plausibly 27 support a claim for relief. Id.; see also Moss, 572 F.3d at 969–70.

28

1           A. The Complaint Fails to Allege Facts Sufficient to State a Cause
 2           of Action Under 42 U.S.C. § 1983.

3           Plaintiff asserts two causes of action under 42 U.S.C. § 1983. The First 4 Cause of Action alleges violation of Plaintiff's constitutional rights under the 5 Fourth and Fourteenth Amendments, while the Second Cause of Action asserts a 6 municipal theory of liability pursuant to an alleged policy, practice, or custom of 7 the County.

8           To prevail on a cause of action under 42 U.S.C. § 1983 against a public 9 entity such as the County of Los Angeles, Plaintiff must plead and prove the 10 following: (1) County personnel violated Plaintiff's constitutional rights while 11 acting under color of state law; and (2) the violation was caused by a policy, 12 practice, or custom of the County of Los Angeles. Monell v. Dept. of Social 13 Servs. of New. York, 436 U.S. 658, 690 (1978); Balisteri v. Pacifica Police Dept., 14 901 F.2d 696, 699 (9th Cir. 1990). As set forth below, both of Plaintiff's causes 15 of action under 42 U.S.C. § 1983 fail because Plaintiff's Fourth and Fourteenth 16 Amendment rights were not violated, and the complaint fails to allege facts 17 showing that any County personnel acted under color of law or that any specific 18 policy, practice, or custom that could have violated Plaintiff's constitutional 19 rights. Moreover, the First Cause of Action fails because it is premised on 20 individual liability rather than municipal liability.

21           1. Both Causes of Action Under 42 U.S.C. § 1983 Fail
 22           Because Plaintiff Has Not Sufficiently Pled a Violation of 23           His Fourth or Fourteenth Amendment Rights.

24           Plaintiff's § 1983 claims fail at the outset due to the absence of any 25 allegation tending to show that any defendant violated his constitutional rights.
 26 To the extent Plaintiff asserts claims under the Fourteenth Amendment, his claims 27 fail because they sound in the Fourth Amendment rather than the Fourteenth. To 28 the extent his claims are based on the alleged entry into the home and physical

1 contact with Plaintiff, his claims fail because Plaintiff's ex-wife had authority to 2 enter the residence and there is no allegation any County personnel made contact 3 with Plaintiff.

4 The First and Second Causes of Action should be dismissed to the extent 5 that they are based on the Fourteenth Amendment, because Plaintiff's claims are 6 more properly based on the Fourth Amendment. "The first step in any [section 7 1983] claim is to identify the specific constitutional right allegedly infringed." 8 Albright v. Oliver, 510 U.S. 266, 114 S.Ct. 807 (1994) (citing Graham v. Connor, 9 490 U.S. 386, 394, 109 S.Ct. 1865 (1989) and Baker v. McCollan, 443 U.S. 137, 10 140, 99 S.Ct. 2689 (1979). The Supreme Court has repeatedly stated that if there 11 is an explicit textual source of constitutional protection against a particular sort of 12 intrusive governmental conduct, the conduct is to be measured against the 13 particular constitutional provision and not against a more generalized 14 constitutional provision. See, Graham, 490 U.S. at 395 ("the validity of the claim 15 must then be judged by reference to the specific constitutional standard which 16 governs that right . . . "); Albright, 510 U.S. at 274; Hufford v. McEnaney, 249
17 F.3d 1142, 1151 (9th Cir. 2001) citing, Armendariz v. Penman, 75 F.3d 1311, 18 1319 (9th Cir. 1996) (En Banc) ("If, in a Section 1983 suit, the plaintiff's claims 19 can be analyzed under an explicit textual source of rights in the Constitution, a 20 court should not resort to the 'more subjective standard of substantive due 21 process.'").

22 Under this analysis, federal courts have held that constitutional claims 23 based on allegations of illegal searches and seizures and excessive use of force 24 are covered by the Fourth Amendment, not the Fourteenth. See, e.g., May v. Twin 25 Falls County Sheriff's Office, 2014 WL 1317644 at *2-3 (D. Idaho 2014); Silva v.
26 City of Honolulu, 2012 WL 12892183 at *14-15 (D. Hawaii 2012); Schreiner v.
27 City of Gresham, 681 F.Supp.2d 1270, 1276 (D. Oregon 2010); Dawkins v. City
28 of Honolulu, 761 F.Supp.2d 1080, 1088-1089 (D. Hawaii 2010); Neel v.

1     Abrahamson, 2007 WL 1378601 at *3 (D. Oregon 2007). Therefore, to the extent
 2 Plaintiff's First and Second Causes of Action are based on the Fourteenth 3 Amendment rather than the Fourth, they should be dismissed.

4     Moreover, the complaint does not allege facts sufficient even to state a 5 claim under the Fourth Amendment. With respect to the claims that County 6 personnel illegally entered and/or searched Plaintiff's home, the complaint alleges 7 they did so at the behest, and with the cooperation, of Defendant Hutnyan.
 8 (Complaint at ¶¶ 30-31, 33, 38.) What the complaint fails to allege, however, is 9 that Defendant Hutnyan was a co-owner of the premises, and was lawfully 10 permitted to enter the premises on the date of the incident. (Request for Judicial 11 Notice, Exhibit A at p. 10, ¶ 4.2.) The complaint further fails to allege that, while 12 Plaintiff Hutnyan had possession of the premises for one year after he and 13 Defendant Hutnyan entered into a marital settlement agreement, that possession 14 ended on March 3, 2016 – more than three weeks prior to the incident alleged in 15 the complaint.<sup>1</sup> (Id.) Defendant Hutnyan therefore had the authority to enter the 16 premises, and to invite guests – including any County personnel who might have 17 been present on the date of the incident. Even assuming the County personnel 18 acted under color of law (they did not – see below), their alleged presence was 19 therefore not a violation of the Fourth Amendment. This is so because, according 20 to Plaintiff's allegations, Defendant Hutnyan – who had lawful authority to access 21 the premises and enter the residence – consented to the entry. Illinois v.

 23
 24     <sup>1</sup> The Marital Settlement Agreement the Hutnyans entered into on March 3, 2015, 25 provided that Mr. Hutnyan would occupy the residence up to one year, or some 26 other length of time agreed to by the parties, or until sold, whichever is earlier.
 27 (Request for Judicial Notice, Exhibit A at p. 10, ¶ 4.2.) The incident took place 28 on March 25, 2016 – more than one year after the Marital Settlement Agreement was executed, at which time Mr. Hutnyan no longer had the right to occupy the premises, and at which time Mrs. Hutnyan, as co-owner, had the authority to enter the residence.

1     Rodriguez, 497 U.S. 177, 181 (1990) (search is lawful if consent is given by “the 2 individual whose property is searched . . . or from a third party who possesses 3 common authority over the premises”).

4     To the extent the complaint is based on the allegation that Plaintiff was 5 struck in his arm and on his body (Complaint at ¶ 38), the allegation fails because 6 the complaint does not allege that it was County personnel who allegedly struck 7 him. Additionally, the allegation is conclusory, and fails to allege specific facts 8 as to how the alleged contact occurred. As such, it does not satisfy the Ashcroft v.
 9 Iqbal standard.

10     2.     Both Causes of Action Under 42 U.S.C. § 1983 Fail
 11         Because the Complaint Fails to State Facts Showing Any 12         County Employee Was Acting Under Color of Law.

13     In order for Plaintiff’s § 1983 claim to survive a motion to dismiss, he must 14 allege facts satisfying the pleading standard of Ashcroft v. Iqbal showing “that the 15 conduct complained of was committed by a person acting under color of state 16 law....” Balisteri, supra, 901 F.2d at 699 (emphasis added); see also, Ninth 17 Circuit Model Civil Jury Instruction No. 9.2

18     The United States Supreme Court has explicitly held that, although “under 19 color of law” means under pretense of law, “acts of officers in the ambit of their 20 personal pursuits are plainly excluded.” (emphasis added). Conduct is not 21 considered to be under color of law “if the challenged conduct is not related in 22 some meaningful way either to the officer’s governmental status or to the 23 performance of his duties.” Parilla-Burgos v. Hernandez-Rivera, 108 F.3d 445, 24 449-451 (1st Cir. 1997).

25     Off-duty conduct is presumptively not performed under color of law.
 26 ““Private violence – even private violence engaged in by one who happens to 27 work for the state – has different legal ramifications than violence attributable to 28 state action.”” Parilla-Burgos, supra, 108 F.3d at 449 (officer who accepted

1 barroom challenge to engage in a fight was not acting under color of law though 2 he had previously stated he was a police officer, displayed his identification, told 3 patrons he was there to ‘keep the peace’ and shot plaintiffs’ decedent with his 4 service revolver); see also, Martinez v. Colon, 54 F.3d 980, 988 (1st Cir. 1995) 5 (policeman who, during private harassment, unintentionally fired service revolver 6 thereby maiming fellow officer, was not acting under color of law); Bonsignore v.
 7 New York, 683 F.2d 635, 639 (2d Cir. 1982) (held that acts committed by officer 8 is not “under color of law” if not in the performance of official duty).

9 The law of the Ninth Circuit is in accord. See, Huffman v. County of Los 10 Angeles, 147 F.3d 1054, 1058, 1061 (9th Cir. 1998) (the plaintiff could not 11 establish § 1983 liability against the County because the off-duty deputy sheriff 12 had not acted “under color of law” because “[o]fficers who engage in 13 confrontations for personal reasons unrelated to law enforcement … do not act 14 under color of law”); Van Ort v. Estate of Stanewich, 92 F.3d 831, 838 (9th Cir.
 15 1996) (off-duty policeman did not act under color of law where he was wearing 16 street clothes, instead of in uniform, did not display a badge, and robbed and 17 assaulted the plaintiffs in their residence); Dang Vang v. Van Xiong X. Toyed, 944 18 F.2d 476, 479 (9th Cir. 1991) (“The pretense is lacking if the wrongful act is ‘not 19 in any way related to performance of the duties of the state employee’”).

20 Plaintiff’s complaint specifically alleges that the County personnel who 21 were purportedly involved in the incident were off-duty, and were working for a 22 private security company, at the time the alleged incident occurred. (Complaint at 23 ¶¶ 31-32, 38.) There are no facts alleged which suggest that any County 24 employee was on-duty and working for the County at the time, was advancing the 25 County’s interests, or that the alleged conduct was “related in some meaningful 26 way” to their employment with the County. There was no apparent benefit to the 27 County in the alleged conduct, nor is one alleged.

28

1        Although the complaint alleges in general terms that the individual 2 defendants' actions were under color of state law (Complaint at ¶ 53), this 3 conclusory allegation is devoid of factual support and thus fails to satisfy the 4 Ashcroft v. Iqbal standard. The first and second causes of action should therefore 5 be dismissed because it is apparent that the County personnel Plaintiff claims were 6 involved in the incident were not acting under color of law.

7        3. Plaintiff's First Cause of Action Fails Because It Is 8        Premised on Individual Liability Rather Than Municipal 9        Liability.

10        Whereas a § 1983 claim against an individual government actor only 11 requires proof that the defendant violated the plaintiff's rights while acting under 12 color of state law, a § 1983 claim against a public entity such as the County of 13 Los Angeles requires an additional showing that the violation of rights was 14 caused by a policy, practice, or custom of the entity. Monell, supra, 436 U.S. at 15 690. Plaintiff's First Cause of Action does not allege that the purported violation 16 of Plaintiff's Fourth and Fourteenth Amendment rights was caused by a policy, 17 practice, or custom of the County of Los Angeles.

18        Indeed, based on the way the complaint is pled, it appears that Plaintiff's 19 First Cause of Action, which lacks allegations of a policy practice, or custom, was 20 intended to address the individual defendants, while the Second Cause of Action, 21 which includes such allegations, was intended to address the County and the City 22 of Manhattan Beach. However, the First Cause of Action is still asserted against 23 all defendants, including the entity defendants.

24        To the extent Plaintiff contends both the First Cause of Action and the 25 Second Cause of Action are intended to be addressed to the County, the First 26 Cause of Action is duplicative of the Second. In other words, if both causes of 27 action seek the same type of relief (municipal liability) from the same defendants, 28

1 with respect to the same alleged conduct, they are redundant and one should be 2 dismissed.

3       4. Plaintiff's Second Cause of Action Fails Because It Does 4       Not Allege Specific Facts Regarding the Alleged Policy, 5       Practice, or Custom that Caused the Alleged Violation of 6       Plaintiff's Fourth and Fourteenth Amendment Rights.

7       In order to recover against a public entity defendant under § 1983, a 8 plaintiff must prove either: (1) an explicit wrongful government policy, or (2) a 9 pattern of wrongful acts by governmental officials which are “so permanent and 10 well-settled as to constitute an (unspoken) ‘custom or usage’ with the force of 11 law.” Monell, supra, 436 U.S. at 690.

12       The complaint alleges that the County “caused plaintiff’s injuries and 13 damages through their policies, practices, customs, and/or usages that ratify the 14 abuse and misuse of police power and the use of unnecessary and unreasonable 15 means . . .” (Complaint at ¶ 48.) On its face, such an allegation does not satisfy 16 the Ashcroft v. Iqbal standard, because it does nothing more than recite the 17 elements of a municipal liability claim under § 1983.

18       In a later section of the complaint, under the Second Cause of Action, 19 Plaintiff alleges as follows with respect to the County:

20       “Defendant[] County of Los Angeles . . . maintained policies, 21 practices, customs, and usages, that condoned, tolerated, and allowed 22 its officers . . . to commit or execute (1) the unconstitutional use of 23 unnecessary, unreasonable, and/or excessive force, unlawful searches 24 and seizures, and unlawful harassment, threats, coercion, and 25 intimidation; (2) the culture and promotion of . . . unconstitutional use 26 of unnecessary, unreasonable, and/or excessive force, unlawful 27 searches and seizures, and unlawful harassment, threats, coercion, and 28

1                   intimidation to achieve personal goals and ends; (3) defendant County
 2                   Employees' use of police power for personal reasons and goals . . . .”
 3 (Complaint at ¶ 59.)

4                   While more detailed than the conclusory allegation found at ¶ 48, the 5 allegations found at ¶ 59 still fail to satisfy the Ashcroft v. Iqbal standard. These 6 allegations merely assert ““naked assertion[s]’ devoid of ‘further factual 7 enhancement,’” rather than factual content that would allow the court to draw the 8 reasonable inference that the County is liable. Ashcroft, 556 U.S. at 678.
 9 Plaintiff fails to identify the specific policies, practices, or customs at issue;
 10 Plaintiff only alleges what he believes the effects of the alleged policies, 11 practices, or customs are. It is also unclear from the face of the complaint what 12 the relationship is between those alleged policies, practices, or customs and the 13 incident alleged in the complaint. Absent allegations of a specific policy, 14 practice, or custom, and its relationship to the alleged incident, Plaintiff has failed 15 to plead sufficient facts to state a claim for municipal liability under the Ashcroft
 16 v. Iqbal standard.

17                  B. The Complaint Fails to Allege Facts Sufficient to State a Cause 18                  of Action for Intentional Infliction of Emotional Distress.

19                  A state-law cause of action for intentional infliction of emotional distress 20 requires a plaintiff to plead and prove the following elements: (1) extreme and 21 outrageous conduct by the defendant; (2) intent to cause, or reckless disregard of 22 causing, emotional distress; (3) the plaintiff's suffering severe or extreme 23 emotional distress; and (4) causation between the defendant's outrageous conduct 24 and the emotional distress. Hughes v. Pair, 46 Cal.4th 1035, 1050 (2009).
 25 “Outrageous” is conduct which exceeds all bounds of that usually tolerated in a 26 civilized community. Id. at 1051. Furthermore, liability for intentional infliction 27 of emotional distress does not extend to mere insults, indignities, threats, 28 annoyances, petty oppressions, or other trivialities. Id.

1       As with the first two causes of action, Plaintiff has not alleged any specific 2 facts, which would satisfy the pleading standard of Ashcroft v. Iqbal, that tend to 3 show any of the involved County personnel engaged in outrageous conduct.
4 Plaintiff has done nothing more than to allege, in conclusory fashion, that the 5 individual defendants' conduct "was extreme and outrageous . . . with the 6 intention of causing, or the reckless disregard of the probability of causing, 7 emotional distress." (Complaint at ¶ 66.) As discussed above, however, Ashcroft 8 v. Iqbal requires more than a simple recitation of the elements of the cause of 9 action, devoid of any factual content. Plaintiff is required to plead facts 10 establishing the allegedly outrageous nature of the individual defendants' 11 conduct.

12       To the extent Plaintiff may contend the alleged entry and search of the 13 residence constitutes outrageous conduct, any such contention fails. As discussed 14 above, Defendant Hutnyan had the lawful authority to enter the premises and the 15 residence, and to invite any guests she might want to have there. (Request for 16 Judicial Notice, Exhibit A at p. 10, ¶ 4.2.) That being the case, the entry into the 17 residence was entirely lawful, and should not have been surprising to Plaintiff 18 who knew full well of Defendant Hutnyan's right to enter the premises.

19       Moreover, "[a]s a general rule, public entity liability [under California law] 20 only exists if there is an express statutory basis for such liability." Lockhart v.
21 County of Los Angeles, 155 Cal.App.4th 289, 304 (2007) (citing Cal. Govt. Code 22 § 815(a)). Plaintiff has not alleged any statutory basis for his intentional 23 infliction of emotional distress claim, a defect that is fatal to the third cause of 24 action in and of itself.

25       To the extent Plaintiff intends to rely on Cal. Govt. Code § 815.2(a), which 26 generally provides that "[a] public entity is liable for injuries proximately caused 27 by an act or omission of an employee within the scope of his employment . . .," 28 any such reliance would be misplaced. Plaintiff does not allege any specific facts

1 to establish that the County employees were acting within the scope of their job 2 duties with the Sheriff's Department or Probation Department at the time of the 3 incident. To the contrary, the complaint specifically alleges the opposite – that 4 the County employees were off-duty and were working for a private security 5 company at the time of the incident. (Complaint at ¶¶ 31, 32, 38.) These 6 allegations undermine any claim that the County employees were acting in the 7 scope of their employment with the County at the time of the incident.

8           C.    The Complaint Fails to Allege Facts Sufficient to State a Cause
 9           of Action for Assault or Battery.

10           California law defines civil battery as “any intentional, unlawful and 11 harmful contact by one person with the person of another.” Ashcraft v. King, 228 12 Cal.App.3d 604, 611 (1991). “The essential elements of a cause of action for 13 assault are: (1) defendant acted with intent to cause harmful or offensive contact, 14 or threatened to touch plaintiff in a harmful or offensive manner; (2) plaintiff 15 reasonably believed she was about to be touched in a harmful or offensive manner 16 or it reasonably appeared to plaintiff that defendant was about to carry out the 17 threat; (3) plaintiff did not consent to defendant's conduct; (4) plaintiff was 18 harmed; and (5) defendant's conduct was a substantial factor in causing plaintiff's 19 harm.” So v. Shin, 212 Cal.App.4th 652, 668-669 (2013).

20           As discussed above, the complaint alleges that Plaintiff “believed that he 21 would be struck about his body, and in fact was struck upon his body,” and also 22 that he “was struck on his arm” during the incident. (Complaint at ¶ 38.) He 23 does not allege how he was struck or who struck him. The absence of such 24 allegations is fatal to the cause of action, because Plaintiff does not positively 25 allege that the alleged contact was caused by any County personnel.

26           Finally, for the reasons discussed in Section II.B above, the fourth cause of 27 action fails because it does not allege a statutory basis for the claim, nor, 28 assuming Plaintiff intends to rely on Cal. Govt. Code § 815.2, does it allege any 1 facts showing that the individual defendants were acting in the scope of their 2 employment with the County at the time of the incident.

3 III. CONCLUSION.

4 Based on the foregoing, Defendant County of Los Angeles respectfully 5 requests that Plaintiff's complaint be dismissed in its entirety.
